MAY FOOL WIFEY

IF SHE'S EASY BUT NOT POLICE

If you happen to go out some night and get gloriously full—acquire one of these stinging, witty, apocryphal, joyful puns that makes you feel as if you had John D. Rockefeller shoveling coal down in the collar and J. Pierpont Morgan shining your shoes, and if you are unfortunate enough to discover suddenly when you want to buy for the boys that you are cold, stone broke, and in order to raise the necessary dough, go off and hook your watch with your uncle Isaac. If you do all these things and then go home and wifey asks what you did with your watch, well, there's only one thing to do. Tell her that you attended a Republican rally down in Palama, and that the time piece was stolen by some of the "hunks of the administration."

It's a beautiful story and it ought to work well if you tell it well.

But be sure in that case that the police whom you are accusing do not go to that same uncle Isaac and discover the truth of the matter—that it was you who soaked the watch for six dollars, and that afterwards, when you were in funds again, you went and redeemed it—for twelve dollars. And when you tell the story, be sure that you don't tell it to anybody but wifey. You may be able to bamboozle her, because she is easy—sometimes—but some of the boys may be wise. And then, the police department may not like to have such tales told about them and they may happen to go and dig up the whole story and tell it to one of the newspapers. And if that newspaper should happen to tell who it was that did all this, it would mean you feel uncomfortable, wouldn't it?

And if you happened to be the man who was offered a position of trust with one of the big mercantile concerns of the city, but was required to put up a bond of $100, and you went and borrowed the hundred from a friend or yours who was a conductor on the streetcar line—and then you went out with the boys again and blew the whole hundred bucks—and the next day found yourself shy both money and job—well, do you think it would be a good thing for you to be accusing the police of stealing your watch?

Maybe you think this didn't happen here in Honolulu, but it did.

ROASTS MAIN COURSE

AT PUUNUI

DEMOCRAT MEETING

The Democratic meeting last night at Biplane's old stand, at the corner of Wyllie and Liliha street, was largely devoted to a roast of the Republican candidates. Moore jumped on Link McCandless for telling the Kaneohe voters that if he were elected he would send the County to get more good roads and bridges. Moore said that McCandless as a Senator could do nothing about such matters, which all lay in the province of the Supervisors.

Chas. H. Rose also devoted his time to McCandless, saying that while he was promising to work for giving laborers $1.50 a day, he had killed just such a bill in the Senate last year.

Watson spoke for W. W. Thayer, promising that if he were elected County Attorney there would be no machine politics in the Sheriff's office.

Curtis Lanke said that the police were doing politics instead of checking crime. If he were elected Sheriff he would put a stop to this sort of thing, retaining only efficient officers without regard to their politics. Kalakala charged Waterhouse with sending runners about in the Eleventh of the Fifth, who had the Hawaiians sign pledges to vote for the Republicans in consideration of a promise of money to be paid later.

D. Kahaloa said the same old lay about the police causing the ruin of the race by allowing gun mills to run unchecked.
